SBA Disaster Loan Deadline is August 15 Small business owners still have time to apply

Norfolk, VA - The U.S. Small Business Administration reminds small, non-farm and agriculture-dependent businesses located in various counties in Virginia that the filing deadline for Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDLs) is August 15.

“A disaster declaration was issued as a result of a similar action taken by the Secretary of Agriculture to help farmers in these states recover from losses caused by adverse weather conditions that occurred on July 15, 2004 and continuing,” said SBA Disaster Area Director William E. Leggiero, Jr.

Under this declaration, SBA’s EIDL program is available to small agriculture-dependent businesses and small agricultural cooperatives that suffered economic injury as a direct result of the weather’s effect on agricultural producers. For example, businesses that sell goods and services directly to agricultural producers may be unable to pay bills and/or meet expenses because of the reduced purchasing power of the farmers and ranchers.

Eligible small businesses may qualify for loans up to $1.5 million. These loans are available at a 2.75 percent interest rate with loan terms up to 30 years. SBA determines eligibility for the program based on the size and type of business, and its financial resources.

“SBA does not provide loans to farmers, and cannot provide loans to non-agricultural dependent businesses. Small businesses may contact their local SBA District office for information and other possible assistance. Farmers and ranchers should contact the Farm Services Agency, for information regarding loan programs.” Leggiero added.

The declaration designates Northampton County in the Commonwealth of Virginia as the primary disaster area. The contiguous County of Accomack in the Commonwealth of Virginia is also eligible to apply.
